

The National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS) Summary Report indicates that you are close to or have reached the undergraduate aggregate loan limit for Federal Direct Loans. You can go to this website at www.nsls.ed.gov. You will use your FSA ID# to enter this website. If you don't have an FSA ID#, please visit www.fsa.ed.gov.

The financial aid office will be reviewing your file to determine how much future loan eligibility you may have. You will be receiving a letter from the financial aid office letting you know how much you have already borrowed. You can also find that information at the website listed above.

Here are the aggregate loan limits for an undergraduate student.

Dependency Status	Total Amount You Can Borrow
Dependent Student	$31,000
Independent Student	$57,500

There is nothing for you to do regarding this comment. This needs to be reviewed by the financial aid office before you can receive an award letter.

If you think you will not have enough in Federal Direct Loans to complete your program, we may be able to assist you with alternative financial aid resources, which include applying for an Alternative Loan.

- Apply at <https://choice.fastproducts.org/FastChoice/home/111718>
- Choose "Alternative Loan Options"
- Select a lender and click on "apply" on this website, which will then direct you to the lender's website that you chose to complete the application.
- Choose "Azusa Pacific University - University College" when it asks for school information.

Graduate Students: If you are a graduate student, you can ignore this comment. Once we review your file, we will waive it. The comment is automatically populated based upon the FAFSA data, which only looks at the total amount borrowed and assumes the student is an undergraduate.
