

The National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS) Summary Report indicates that there may be a loan fraud associated with your social security number.

A student who has been convicted of, or has pled no contest or guilty to, a crime involving fraud in obtaining FSA funds must have completely repaid the fraudulently obtained funds to the Department of Education or the loan holder before regaining aid eligibility.

Please provide CURRENT documentation that these loans that were received fraudulently have been completely repaid.

If you believe this information to be in error, please provide our office with documentation that indicates you did not obtain FSA funds fraudulently.

If you have questions regarding this issue, please contact Student Financial Services at the number listed below for details and information.
